In June, an amazing group of volunteers met at the North Little Rock Animal Shelter to provide a day of luxury for homeless dogs living at the shelter.

Sponsors made donations ($50 per dog). Each dog received a soothing oatmeal bath, lavender face rub, coconut oil body massage, ear cleansing, pawdgree nail trim, new bandana and a special photo! And then, a yummy, delicious pupcake!

Thanks to donors, 42 dogs have been sponsored! 16 lucky pups received their special treatment. Another event is scheduled for September to finish up the remaining dogs that were sponsored.

All proceeds went to the "Dr. David Bevins MEDI-PAWS" fund. This program provided needed medical attention/treatments for stray and injured animals that would otherwise have to be euthanized.

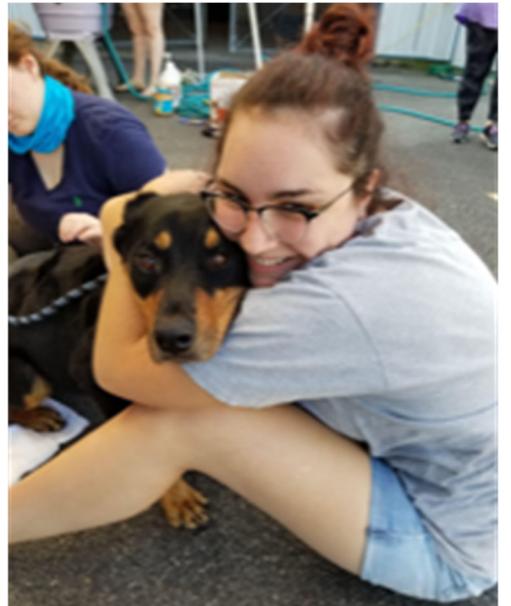

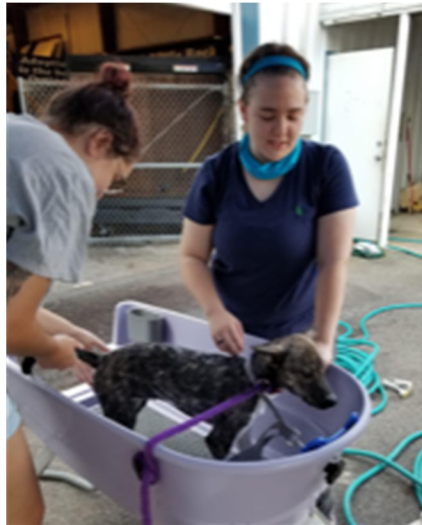

A huge thank you to all who volunteered!

If you would like to make a donation to NLR Friends of Animals, or adopt a FUREVER new family member, please contact North Little Rock Animal Services at 501-975-8577.

Thank you to Patty Jones for the information above and photos.

There were lots of puppy hugs and kisses before the day was over!

August—Heat Safety

Man it is hot out there! It is so hot it can be dangerous. One hazard that the dry summer months pose is heat exhaustion or heat stroke.

Always remember to drink water throughout the day, use sunscreen, dress in loose fitting, light colored clothing and take frequent breaks in the shade or preferably an air conditioned space.

Never leave a child, pet or elderly individual unattended in a vehicle which can be deadly to young children.

Also, hot dry summer months make the danger of outside fires much greater. Dry vegetation will burn readily and spread fast. This can quickly lead to fire being spread to houses and vehicles. Be careful using BBQ grills and always have a garden hose readily available in case fire spreads on the ground.

Permits are required BEFORE brush piles can be burned safely away from fences, houses or vehicles. Outside burning cannot occur at all if the county is under a burn ban.

Please be safe and enjoy your summer.

Friends, it's hot out there! We hope you don't have outlets overloaded like this one (from a famous, must-see Christmas movie). But if you do, keep in mind that overloaded electrical outlets do cause fires. Many occur during holidays, but they can happen anytime.

When an outlet overloads, the circuit breaker trips, cutting the electric flow to that whole circuit. In the absence of a circuit breaker, the circuit wiring will overheat, making the wire insulation melt, which can cause a fire. This can put your family, property and entire neighborhood at risk.

Safety Matters from the Arkansas Municipal League

Causes of Impairment

Found at National Safety Council / nsc.org

At some point, most of us have felt the effects of impairment, from losing focus and reaction time to just feeling different. Often, this impairment is the result of using substances such as alcohol, prescription drugs or cannabis, though we can also become impaired due to fatigue or other factors, such as stress.

Whatever the cause, this gap between our normal state of mind and how we feel in the moment can put us at risk.

Alcohol

Impairment begins with the first drink. Though the legal alcohol concentration limit is 0.08 or lower in most states, research shows that for the majority of drivers, driving performance has deteriorated significantly at this level. Even if you don't drive, alcohol can impair your ability to make decisions.

Prescriptions and over-the-counter drugs

Some legal drugs, including prescription opioids and certain over-the-counter medicines, can result in impairment—even when taken precisely as directed. These drugs can cause drowsiness, alter your visual functions, and even affect your mental judgement and motor skills.

Many people don't realize that when a drug label says to avoid operating heavy machinery that includes driving, meaning that people who commute to work are at risk as well.

Cannabis

Though it is increasingly being decriminalized in many states, cannabis—commonly called marijuana—can cause impairment. Similar to alcohol, cannabis can cause impairment at any level of use and causes side effects like dizziness, drowsiness, and feelings of altered time and space. Effects can last for several hours and can pose significant safety risks.

Fatigue

Though many of us view sleep loss as a normal part of our daily life, fatigue can slow your reaction time, decrease your awareness of hazards and worsen your ability to sustain attention: all serious risks in the workplace. You are three times more likely to be in a car crash if you are fatigued, and losing just two hours of sleep can have the same affect as drinking three beers.

Mental Distress

At some point, most people will experience mental distress or challenges to their mental wellbeing. There is a link between both moderate and severe mental health distress and increased safety risks. Experiencing mental health distress can adversely affect risk recognition and the actions of people both on and off the job.

Recognize your risks

Though many of these effects may seem obvious, we are not always the best judges of our own levels of impairment. We know the risks of drunk driving, yet each year thousands of people are killed in drunk-driving crashes. If we can recognize the signs of impairment in ourselves and others, we can make the safe choice and avoid injury or death.

While we may experience impairment in different ways, the takeaway is universal. If you feel unable to safely perform your tasks due to impairment, you shouldn't be performing them. If you feel different, you function different!

Take it home

We have to make safe decisions both on the job and back home. Talk to your loved ones about the different forms of impairment so they understand these risks. A night out with friends, for example, should always include a plan for getting home safe. When you set this example yourself, you can help protect your loved ones and ensure they make the safe choice every time.

Information regarding employee anniversaries and birthdates is provided by Human Resources the prior year (i.e. 2022 was provided in 2021). So if an employee name is on the list that has retired or resigned, please disregard. Also, typos happen! Please let me know if a name is spelled wrong and a correction will be included next month! For employees who leave the city and come back in a different capacity or department, your length of service may change as well. Example, I worked in the Mayor's Office 10 years, then was elected City Clerk. I have been in the City Clerk's Office 21 years. My total service with the city is 31 years. If this scenario applies to you, please email me at least one month before the month of your anniversary month so I can include your total service to the City of NLR! Diane (Dwhitbey@nlr.ar.gov)
