Based on information from the North Little Rock City Engineer, in consultation with the AR Department of Emergency Management, NOAA, and the US Army Corps of Engineers, North Little Rock is expecting to see 40-50 homes effected by flooding. The river is rising daily and expected to crest next week at 29 feet. As you can see in the chart below provided this date by the National Weather Service at Little Rock, this crest will be the highest seen in our area since the Navigation System opened.

Please be mindful of road closures and barricades. They are there for your safety. If you put yourself in a situation that requires our emergency responders (Police and Fire, etc.), you are also putting them in danger. Please keep in mind there are a lot of things in flood waters that can be hazardous to your health. These include raw sewage, gasoline and other fuels, deceased animals and debris. Flood waters also contain a large number of snakes and other wildlife that are seeking higher ground.

Currently, (for North Little Rock residents) there are sandbag locations where the public can pick up bags and fill them (bring your own shovel). Those locations are Dixie Addition at 3350 Sam Evans Drive (between F and G Streets); Gribble Neighborhood at 3200 Gribble (near Crockett); Crystal Hill Area at 6000 White Oak Drive (across from Summitt Church); and, Willow Beach at 15000 Willow Beach Road (east end of Willow Beach before Colonel Maynard). For more info about sandbags, contact the Street Department at 501-340-5355.

If anyone has concerns about evacuation, please contact the North Little Rock Police Department at 501-758 -1234 to coordinate transportation to a shelter if needed.

Hot Weather Safety Tips

Found at www.aspca.org

We all love spending the long, sunny days of summer outdoors with our furry companions, but being overeager in hot weather can spell danger. To prevent your pet from overheating, take these simple precautions provided by ASPCA.

Visit the vet for a spring or early-summer checkup. Make sure your pets get tested for heartworm if they aren't on year-round preventative medication.

Pets can get dehydrated quickly, so give them plenty of fresh, clean water when it's hot or humid outdoors. Make sure your pets have a shady place to get out of the sun, be careful not to over-exercise them, and keep them indoors when it's extremely hot.

Know the symptoms of overheating in pets, which include excessive panting or difficulty breathing, increased heart rate and respiratory rate, drooling, mild weakness, stupor or even collapse. Symptoms can also include seizures, bloody diarrhea and vomit along with an elevated body temperature of over 104 degrees.

Animals with flat faces, like Pugs and Persian cats, are more susceptible to heat stroke since they cannot pant as effectively. These pets, along with the elderly, the overweight, and those with heart or lung diseases, should be kept cool in air-conditioned rooms as much as possible.

Never leave your animals alone in a parked vehicle. Not only can it lead to fatal heat stroke, it is illegal in many cities and towns.

Do not leave pets unsupervised around a pool not all dogs are good swimmers. Introduce your pets to water gradually and make sure they wear flotation devises when on boats. Rinse your dog off after swimming to remove chlorine or salt from his/her fur, and try to keep your dog from drinking pool water, which contains chlorine and other chemicals.

Open unscreened windows pose a real danger to pets, who often fall out of them. Keep all unscreened windows or doors in your home closed, and make sure adjustable screens are tightly secured.

Feel free to trim longer hair on your dog, but never shave your dog. The layers of dogs' coats protect them from overheating and sunburn. Brushing cats more often than usual can prevent problems caused by excessive heart. And be sure that any sunscreen or insect repellent product you use on your pets is labeled specifically for use on animals.

When the temperature is very high, don't let your dog linger on hot asphalt. Being so close to the ground, your pooch's body can heat up quickly, and sensitive paw pads can burn. Keep walks during these times to a minimum.

Commonly used rodenticides and lawn and garden insecticides can be harmful to cats and dogs if ingested, so keep them out of reach. Keep citronella candles, tiki torch products and insect coils out of pets' reach as well. Call your veterinarian immediately if you suspect your animal has ingested a poisonous substance.

Remember that food and drink commonly found at barbeques can be poisonous to pets. Keep alcoholic beverages away from pets, as they can cause intoxication, depression and comas. Similarly, remember that snacks enjoyed by your human friends should not be a treat for your pet; any change of diet, even for one meal, may give your dog or cat severe digestive ailments. Avoid raisins, grapes, onions, chocolate and products with the sweetener xylitol.

Leave pets at home when you head out to Fourth of July celebrations, and never use fireworks around pets. Exposure to lit fireworks can potentially result in severe burns or trauma, and even unused fireworks can contain hazardous materials. Many pets are also fearful of loud noises and can become lost, scared or disoriented, so it's best to keep your guys safe from the noise in a quiet, sheltered and escape-proof area of your home. Be prepared in the event that your pet does escape.

Fire Safety Tips found on the Internet

Cooking Safety

- Put a lid on a grease fire to smother it then turn off the heat. Baking soda will also work.
- Wear tightfitting sleeves when cooking. Loose sleeves easily catch fire.
- NEVER throw water on a grease fire. Water will only spread the fire around.
- Never move a burning pan. You can too easily ignite your clothes or spill the fire onto someone or something else.
- Stand by your pan! Never leave cooking unattended.

Safe Smoking

- Try to quit...again.
- For health and fire safety reasons, permit smoking outside only.
- Never smoke in bed.
- Use large ashtrays with center rests so cigarettes fall into the ashtray and not on the floor.
- Smokers should keep lighters o their person, not on a table on in a purse where children can find them.
- Never smoke in homes where oxygen is in use.

Match and Lighter safety

- Purchase child resistant lighters.
- Keep all matches and lighters out of reach and sight of children. A high, locked cabinet is recommended.
- Teach children that matches and lighters are not toys, they are tools for grownups.
- Teach young children to tell a grown-up when they see matches or lighters lying around.
- Never give a lighter to a child as a toy.

Have a Home Escape Plan

- Practice your home escape plan with the whole family twice a year.
- Plan 2 ways out of each room. The easy way out is probably the door and the second way out might be a window.
- If you plan for a child or a senior to exit a window, make sure they can open it easily.
- If you can't get out, close your door and got to the window and signal for help. Teach children never to hide under beds or in closets.
- If you must go through smoke, crawl low. The coolest, cleanest air will be about 18 inches off the ground.
- Have a meeting place outside where everyone will meet. Be able to tell the fire department if everyone is out safely.
- Stay out; don't go back into a burning building for anything.
- Telephone the fire department from a neighbor's house or use the fire alarm emergency box.

Argenta Historic District

Found at www.encyclopediaofarkansas.net

Listed on the National Register of Historic Places in 1993, the Argenta District in downtown North Little Rock has anchored the revival of the city's urban core. It is bounded by Broadway on the south, 9th Street on the north, Poplar Street on the east, and North Broadway on the west. The district includes residential and commercial properties representing a continuum of the city's development from the late 1880s to 1940s, when North Little Rock grew from a muddy outpost on the Arkansas River opposite Little Rock to a primary railroad and industrial center with the second-largest population in the state.

True to its working-class roots as a city of railroad yards, cotton oil mills, factories, and cattle pens, Argenta's architecture reflects vernacular expressions of popular styles of the period. Notable architects include Charles L. Thompson, H. Ray Burks, Guy Swaim, and John Parks Almand. Thompson designed Argenta High School (later Fourth Street Junior High) at 4th and Willow; the building was razed in 1976 during the era of urban renewal. Almand designed the First Presbyterian Church at 4th and Maple.

Architectural historian (Director of the North Little Rock History Commission), Sandra Taylor Smith authored the district's National Register nomination. Initially, there was resistance among preservationists because so many structures had been significantly altered and neglected. Smith emphasized the Argenta neighborhood's history and connection to the founding of North Little Rock. In 1993, the district included 172 properties in separate areas, with barely half qualifying for National Register status. In 2007, following more than a decade of investment, the district was expanded and unified with eighty-one percent of 258 properties in compliance with National Register standards. "The buildings within Argenta strongly retain their integrity of location, design, workmanship and materials," Smith wrote in 2007. "A sense of time and place is conveyed in tree-lined streetscapes of the residential area as well as along the city's principal commercial corridor, Main Street."

Main Street features Classical Revival architecture at City Hall (1914-1915) and the former U. S. Post Office (1932) (now the Argenta Branch of the William F. Laman Library). The Street building (1895) and the Faucette-Cook building (1895) are Italianate style. Two of the oldest structures, the Argenta Drug Company building (1887) and the Vogel building (1887), are late nineteenth -century Vernacular Commercial. The Owens Funeral Company building (1928) is the only example of Spanish Revival style. Also represented on Main and Maple streets are twentieth-century Commercial Moderne and International styles.

In Argenta's residential area, Craftsman, Dutch Colonial Revival, English Revival, Colonial Revival, Vernacular, Prairie, and Minimal Traditional styles predominate. Larger residences include the Classical Revival E. O. Manees House at 216 W. 4th Street (1895) and English Revival Owens House (1926). The Baker House at 5th and Main (1897) is the lone Queen Anne style. Constructed primarily for railroad workers, most Argenta houses are modest in size. Shotgun-style houses line the 500 block of Willow and 800 block of Orange. Development by Twin City Bank and the Justin Matthews Company in the 1920s, Melrose Circle features fifty-two Craftsman bungalows on the site of a former cotton oil mill.

Downtown North Little Rock's vitality declined measurably in the 1960s due to a combination of interstate construction and suburban flight. Tear-downs during urban renewal in the 1970s waged the final blow. By the early 1990s, crime and deterioration had reduced Argenta to a dangerous wasteland. Two murders in 1991 galvanized residents to form an organization that would be pivotal in the turn-around. Boosters for a Better Downtown spurred the creation of the historic district, along with the establishment of the Argenta Community Development Corporation (CDC) and Main Street Argenta.

The North Little Rock History Commission hired Smith in 1991 to prepare the National Register nomination. After its approval in 1993, the North Little Rock City Council established the Historic District Commission to enforce architectural guidelines. Argenta CDC, formed in 1992, was governed by a board of residents, with Dan Scott (Director of North Little Rock Neighborhood Services) and Rosemary Hamel as director. Working close-Iv with the Historic District Commission and the city's Community Development Agency headed by Charley Baxter (now retired), the CDC purchased and rehabilitated 69 properties in Argenta. Between 1994 and 2008, residential property values rose more than 400 percent, and commercial values climbed 270 percent. Similarly, between 1996 and 2007, police calls declined by 90 percent.

The Argenta Downtown Council succeeded Main Street Argenta in 2007. Led by property owners, the council provides marketing and landscaping, as well as support for business development and safety downtown. John Gaudin and partners built Argenta Place at 301 Main Street in 2007, and City Grove town homes on Maple Street in 2008.

Ranch Turkey Burgers

- Found in Country Living Farmhouse Kitchen Cookbook 1 lb ground turkey 1 small onion, finely chopped
- 1 garlic clove, finely chopped
- 1/2 tsp salt
- 1/2 tsp black pepper
- 3 Tblsp Ranch dressing
- 2 Tblsp vegetable oil
- 4 slices Swiss cheese
- 4 hamburger buns

In a medium bowl, gently combine ground turkey, onion, garlic, salt, pepper, and ranch dressing. From into four 3/4-inch thick patties. Transfer to plate, cover with plastic wrap, and chill for 30 minutes.

Preheat oven to 400°F.

Cowboy Brisket

Found in Country Living Farmhouse Kitchen Cookbook 2 Tblsp cowboy rub (such as McCormick® Grill Mates®

- 1 Tblsp dark brown sugar
- 2 tsps. Smoked paprika
- 1 1/2 tsp salt
- 1 tsp ground cumin
- 1 flat-cut brisket (6 pounds)
- 1 large sweet onion, sliced
- 3 garlic cloves, minced
- 1 cup chopped fresh cilantro

In a bowl, stir together cowboy rub, sugar, paprika, salt, and cumin. Trim fat from brisket, leaving a thin layer; cut into 3-inch chunks. Rub brisket pieces evenly with spice mixture. In lightly greased 5– to 6– quart slow-cooker bowl, add onions and garlic; arrange meat on top and sprinkle with cilantro. Cover and cook on low for 8 to 9 hours or until brisket pieces shred easily with a fork. Serve drizzled with small amount of cooking liquid, or cover and chill for up to 4 days.

Variations:

Tacos: Try brisket on warmed tortillas with your favorite toppings, such as pico de gallo, crumbled queso fresco, and lime wedges (see photo).

Open-Face Sandwiches: Toss shredded cabbage, grated carrots, and diced cucumbers with ranch dressing and a squeeze of lime juice. Pile brisket on large squared of toasted cornbread and top with the slaw and sliced green onions. Pizza: Spread pizza dough with bbq sauce. Sprinkle with brisket, shredded pepper Jack cheese, diced red onion, and red bell peppers. Bake according to dough instructions, sprinkling with cilantro just before serving.

Baked Sweet Potatoes: Wilt spinach in garlic butter. Split roasted sweet potatoes; fill each with brisket and buttered spinach. Top with a dollop of sour cream and sprinkle with chopped bacon and diced red onion.

Ravioli: Toss brisket with hot cooked cheese ravioli, fresh arugula, chopped fresh parsley, and halved grape tomatoes. Sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese.

Fit a wire rack over baking pan; set aside. In a large skillet, heat oil over medium-high heat. Add burgers and cook until browned (about 4 minutes per side). Transfer patties to baking pan, place in baking pan, place in oven, and cook until burgers are firm and ire of 165°F (about 10 reach an internal temperature of 165°F (about 10 minutes). During the last minute in oven, melt a slice of Swiss cheese over each burger. Serve on burger buns with desired toppings.

Every home needs something simmering in the kitchen. This summer, you won't want to heat up the house so this recipe is just what you are looking for! Throw it together and then let your imagination go wild on the variety of meals you can come up with!

Bon appetite!

Information regarding employee anniversaries and birthdates is provided by HR the prior year (i.e. 2019 was provided in 2018). So if an employee name is on the list that has retired or resigned, please disregard. Also, typos happen! Please let me know if a name is spelled wrong and a correction will be included next month! For employees who leave the city and come back in a different capacity or department, your length of service may change as well. Example, I worked in the Mayor's Office 10 years, then was elected City Clerk. I have been in the City Clerk's Office 19 years. My total service with the city is 29 years. If this scenario applies to you, please email me at least one month before the month of your anniversary month so I can include your total service to the City of NLR! Diane (Dwhitbey@nlr.ar.gov)

Due to flooding caused by the rising Arkansas River, please keep your friends, neighbors and co-workers in mind. If you know of someone who may need help, please reach out to them.

If you are unable to offer physical or emotional assistance, please consider making a donation to the American Red Cross.

Also, if you are approached or contacted by a company offering flood insurance or other services, please make sure they are legitimate. There will be a lot of bad people trying to take advantage of those in need during and after this event.
