Back-to-School Tips for Parents found at www.pbs.org/parents/education/going-to-school

Starting the new school year can be a time of great excitement...and anxiety. Help calm your child's fears (and your own) with these teacher-approved tips.

Meet the new teacher. For kids, one of the biggest back-to-school fears is "Will I like my new teacher?" Breaking the ice early on is one of the best ways to calm everyone's fears. Take advantage of your school's open house or back-to-school night. Some teachers welcome phone calls or e-mails — another great opportunity to get to know each other before the year begins.

If personal contact with the teacher isn't possible, try locating the teacher's picture on a school website or in a yearbook, so your child can put a name with a face. If your child's teacher sends a welcome letter, be sure to read the letter together.

Tour the school. If your school hosts an open house, be sure to go. Familiarizing your child with his/her environment will help avoid a nervous stomach on the first day. Together you can meet the teacher, find your child's desk, or explore the playground.

With an older child, you might ask your child to give you a tour of the school. This will help refresh his/her memory and yours.

Connect with friends. A familiar friend can make all the difference when heading back to school. You might try calling parents from last year's class and finding out which children are in your child's class this year. Refresh these relationships before school starts by scheduling a play date or a school carpool.

Tool up. By now you should have the class supply list and hopefully taken your child shopping!

Having the right tools will help students feel prepared. While keeping basic needs in mind, allow for a couple of splurges like a cool notebook or a favorite-colored pen.

These simple pleasures make going back to school a lot more fun!

School supply lists also provide great insight into the schoolwork ahead. Get your child excited about upcoming projects by explaining how new supplies might be used. Let him/her practice using supplies that have not been used before — such as colored pencils or a protractor. This will help your child be comfortable with their supplies before using them in class. Continued on page 5...

Top 10 Reasons to

Spay or Neuter Your Pet

Found at WebMD Veterinary Reference from the ASPCA

Whether you've recently adopted a pet or you're considering it, one of the most important health decisions you'll make is to spay or neuter your cat or dog.

Spaying removes the ovaries and uterus of a female pet. It is a veterinary procedure that requires minimal hospitalization and offers lifelong health benefits.

Neutering removes the testicles of your male dog or cat. This will vastly improve your pet's behavior and keep him close to home.

Top 10 Reasons to Spay or Neuter

1. Your female pet will live a longer, healthier life. Spaying helps prevent uterine infections and breast cancer, which is fatal in about 50 percent of dogs and 90 percent of cats. Spaying your pet before her first heat offers the best protection from these diseases.
2. Neutering provides major health benefits for your male. Besides preventing unwanted litters, neutering your male companion prevents testicular cancer.
3. Your spayed female won't go into heat. While cycles can vary female felines usually go into heat four to five days every three weeks during breeding season. In an effort to advertise for mates, they'll yowl and urinate more frequently-sometimes all over the house.
4. Your neutered male won't want to roam away from home. An intact male will do just about anything to find a mate. That includes digging his way under a fence and making like Houdini to escape from the house. Once he's free to roam, he risks injury in

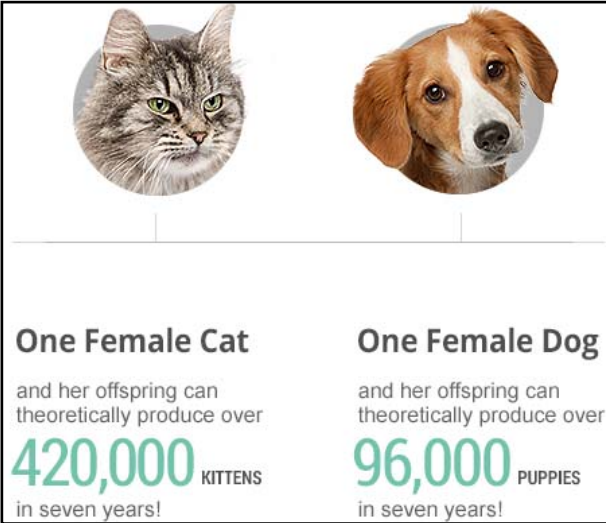

5. Your neutered male will be much better behaved. Neutered cats and dogs focus their attention on their human families. On the other hand, unneutered dogs and cats may mark their territory by spraying strong-smelling urine all over the house. Many aggression problems can be avoided by early neutering.
6. Spaying or neutering will not make your pet fat. Don't use that old excuse. Lack of exercise and overfeeding will cause your pet to pack on the extra pounds...not neutering. Your pet will remain fit and trim as long as you continue to provide exercise and monitor food intake.
7. It is highly cost effective. The cost of your pet's spay/neuter surgery is a lot less than the cost of having and caring for a litter. It also beats the cost of treatment when your unneutered tom escapes and gets into fights with the neighborhood stray.

8. Spaying or neutering your pet is good for the community. Stray animals pose a real problem in many parts of the country. They can prey on wildlife, cause car accidents, damage the local fauna and frighten children. Spaying and neutering packs a powerful punch in reducing the number of animals on the streets.
9. Your pet doesn't need to have a litter for your children to learn about the miracle of birth. Letting your pet produce offspring you have no intention of keeping is not a good lesson for your children—especially when so many unwanted animals end up in shelters. There are tons of books and videos available to teach children about birth in a more responsible way.

10. Spaying or neutering helps fight pet overpopulation. Every year, millions of cats and dogs of all ages and breed are euthanized or suffer as strays. These high numbers are the result of unplanned litters that could have been prevented by spaying or neutering.

North Little Rock Fire Department Importance of address numbering for First Responders

Ordinance 7093 dated December 22, 1997 states the following:
The owner of each residential or commercial building shall cause to be displayed the street number of the property somewhere upon the building or property in a fashion to allow identification of the property from the nearest right-of-way. The numbers shall be no less than 3 inches in height for residential structures and six inches in height for non-residential structures. The color of the numbers shall contrast the background to promote visibility. Street addresses printed on a curb shall not be sufficient to meet this requirement.

The ordinance goes on to state that the reason for this ordinance is that it is beneficial to the citizens of NLR and persons traveling in the City by allowing rapid identification of buildings; and public health and safety are enhanced by the display of street addresses by allowing public safety personnel to quickly identify specific houses or buildings. Having visible house numbers saves precious seconds when our First Responders are called. Many of our calls (Police, Fire and Ambulance) come in at night or early morning hours when it is dark. Having contrasting numbers or reflective numbers is a great help in identifying your home.

Not all of our homes are sequentially numbered so it is vital that your home be identified by the address number. Remember that the numbers should not match the color of the background, this makes it extremely hard to recognize, especially at night. Address numbers should be a contrasting color and/or reflective. The minimum height is 3 inches for residential homes. This does not mean you can't have larger numbers. Larger numbers are easier to recognize and are recommended.

Just think if your loved one needed emergency medical care and the Paramedics were delayed because they could not recognize your address? Or you needed the Police quickly? Or your loved one was trapped in a fire? Wouldn't you want our First Responders to be able to arrive as quickly as possible?

So, help us help you by making sure your address numbers are legible and visible. Hopefully, you won't need us but if you do, we can only help you if we can find you! Information provided by NLR Fire Marshal John Pflasterer.

Chat about today's events and tomorrow's plans. While it is important to support learning throughout the summer, don't spend the last weeks of summer vacation reviewing last year's curriculum. All kids need some down time before the rigors of school begin. For some kids, last-minute drills can heighten anxiety, reminding them of what they've forgotten instead of what they remember.

Ease into the routine. Switching from a summer to a school schedule can be stressful to everyone in the household. Avoid first-day-of-school mayhem by practicing your routine a few days in advance. Set the alarm clock, go through your morning rituals, and get in the car or to the bus stop on time. Routines help children feel comfortable, and establishing a solid school routine will make the first day of school go much smoother.

Recognizing and treating a migraine

By Dale Carter, M.D.

Found in City & Town, July 2018, Vol. 74, No. 07

Of course, it is the incredible pain, but it is also the blurred or spotty vision, the inability to concentrate, the irritability.

Dealing with a migraine headache is not easy and it is something millions of Americans face. According to the Migraine Research Foundation, more than 38 million people experience migraines and about two or three million have them chronically.

What causes a migraine?

Migraines can be caused by a host of circumstances. It is all about meeting the individual threshold for a migraine. This is different for everyone. Some have a lower threshold and others have a fairly high one, but once the threshold is crossed, a migraine ensues.

Sometimes it can be caused by inadequate sleep paired with an argument at home or the office. Other times, it could be what I call "computer neck." This occurs when too much time is spent at the computer with bad posture that can stretch the muscles in the neck.

Dramatic changes in the weather or barometric pressure can also trigger a migraine. It does not matter whether it's cold to hot or vice versa, fast changes can bring on a migraine. Sinus infections, allergies, and any other inflammatory or infectious condition can also work to meet our individual migraine threshold.

Migraines tend to be contained to one side of the head, but if they go on long enough, the entire head can be encompassed. As a result, migraine sufferers find it hard to concentrate at work or home, they become more irritable and sensitive to light and sound. Nausea and vomiting are common with migraines.

It is possible to see one coming. A portion of migraine patients report neurological symptoms before migraine, including spots or flashes in their vision and blurred peripheral vision. Other times, a migraine can happen with no warning at all.

How do I treat a migraine?

The most important step if you're experiencing frequent headaches or migraines with no relief is to seek out a headache specialist. Relying on over-the-counter medications can be a slippery slope.

No matter the medication, whether BC Powder, ibuprofen, Tylenol, Aleve, Excedrin, or another popular medication, over reliance on these drugs can end up creating a worse situation. As your resistance to the medication builds, you are forced to consume more to treat the migraine and run the risk of developing ulcers. Eventually, the medicine's effectiveness could provide no relief.

These medications can be used sparingly, usually once a week. However, if you are experiencing two or more headaches a week, it is important to seek help. A daily preventive, such as a beta-blocker or anti-seizure medication, could help raise your threshold and stave off your migraines. Speak to a headache specialist about all your options.

Lifestyle changes may help

Changes in your daily routine can be huge. Many are chronically dehydrated and unaware. As your body adapts to being dehydrated, your thirst receptors become less active. Drinking large amounts of coffee or soda only makes the situation worse and can trigger a migraine.

Limiting caffeine intake to about 16 ounces a day and drinking plenty of water can help avoid migraines. Obesity is another risk factor for migraines as it is usually associated with high cholesterol, high blood pressure, and other issues that can cause strain on the body and result in a migraine.

Dealing with a migraine can be a helpless feeling, but it does not have to be. Seeking out a headache specialist, in addition to certain lifestyle changes, can help you avoid migraines and enjoy life more.

2018 Sales Tax Holiday—This weekend!!!!

Beginning at 12:01 a.m. on Saturday, August 4, 2018, and ending at 11:59 p.m. on Sunday August 5, 2018, the State of Arkansas will hold its Sales Tax Holiday. State and local sales tax will not be collected during this 48-hour period on the sale of:

- (1) Clothing and footwear if the sales price is less than one hundred dollars ($100) per item;
- (2) Clothing accessories and equipment if the sales price is less than fifty dollars ($50) per item;
- (3) School Supplies;
- (4) School art supplies; and
- (5) School instructional materials.

All retailers are required to participate and may not charge tax on items that are legally tax-exempt during the Sales Tax Holiday.

For more information, call 501-682-7104 Monday through Friday from 8:00 a.m. until 4:30 p.m.

To view the complete list of exempt items, go to the following website: <https://www.dfa.arkansas.gov/images/uploads/exciseTaxOffice/HolidayItemized.pdf>.

Bargains Galore on 64

Bargains Galore on 64 August 9 to 11, 2018

160 miles of yard sales, antiques, collectibles, and flea markets from Fort Smith past Conway to Beebe, Arkansas.

The River Valley of Arkansas is proud to host this yard sale extravaganza which is held the second weekend in August.

Designated a "Travel Treasure" by Southern Traveler Magazine, the event draws family vacationers and dealers, buyers and sellers alike, who "treasure" the great bargains and friendly atmosphere. Come join in the fun of selling or buying along this antiques and "stuff" shop-a-holics' highway of vendors with bargains galore!

Rules of the Road. Use extreme caution when traveling on Highway 64 during Bargains Galore. Due to the nature of the sale, it can be dangerous to follow the vehicle in front of you too closely because of sudden stops, slow-downs, and possible foot traffic.

Remember to DRIVE FRIENDLY...use your seatbelts and turn-signals; no matter how great a treasure you've spotted from the road, DO NOT STOP suddenly. Also, please DO NOT make illegal U-TURNS when you see something you might be interested in. Take the time to go to the next available spot to turn around. The item will probably still be there. With your help, this will be a SAFE and HAPPY event for everyone!

Information regarding employee anniversaries and birthdates is provided by HR the prior year (i.e. 2018 was provided in 2017). So if an employee name is on the list that has retired or resigned, please disregard. Also, typos happen! Please let me know if a name is spelled wrong and a correction will be included next month! For employees who leave the city and come back in a different capacity or department, your length of service may change as well. Example, I worked in the Mayor's Office 10 years, then was elected City Clerk. I have been in the City Clerk's Office 18 years. My total service with the city is 28 years. If this scenario applies to you, please email me at least one month before the month of your anniversary month so I can include your total service to the City of NLR! Diane (Dwhitbey@nlr.ar.gov)
